Peru Will Open Debate Season Here on Friday

Leland Medsker, Clyde Rowland, and Wiley Pooleston To Uphold Negative in Argument Against Trio From Nebraska.

Starting against the Peru State Teachers College of Peru, Nebraska, Friday of this week, the College will begin the forensic work for the school year of 1928. The debate will be held in the College Auditorium and is scheduled for 3:20.

The College will take the negative side of the question, "Resolved that the United States should cease to protect by armed force, capital invested in foreign lands, except after war has been declared." From a squad of eight students, who have been trying out for the team, the following have been picked for first competition: Leland Medsker, Clyde Rowland and Wiley Pooleston.

Thursday evening, prior to the day of the scheduled debate, the same question will be debated before the Social Science Club. The affirmative side will be Pay Woodson Null, Gerald Carroll and Fred Smith. The negative group will include the same members who have been picked for the Peru contest.

The second debate on schedule is with Tarkio, at Tarkio, on March 8. The question as debated with Peru will again be contested only this time the College will take the affirmative side. Debaters for this time will be Pay Woodson Null, Gerald Carroll, and Fred Smith.

After the Tarkio contest the affirmative team will make a tour; meeting William Jewell at Liberty, Baker University at Baldwin, Kansas, and Central College. Later in the month the negative team will invade Iowa state and meet Simpson College at Indianola, Penn College at Oskaloosa, and Central College at Pella. These debates are scheduled for successive days.

The College will be represented at the Extempore and Oratorical contest of the Intercollegiate Contests to be held at Warrensburg, March 16. Miss Criswell, coach, has announced that Leland Medsker and Clyde Rowland will "growl" for the Bearcat at that time.

Class in Home Ec. Visits Local Stores

The Home Problems, Foods and Smith Hughes classes made a trip to town last week and visited the cleaners, laundry and Butlers meat market.

At the cleaners and laundry they observed each step taken from the time the article is received until it is sold to the customer.

At the meat market they were given a demonstration of cutting up meat. A quarter of beef was cut up and the different cuts were shown and studied. They also made a study of the various kinds of cheese.

The home economics girls have been very much interested in observing some Forsythia branches which Miss Anthony brought in and put in water. The branches are blooming now and they add a great deal to the attractiveness of the room.

The nutrition class is preparing outlines for the study of the nutrition of the child. Each girl will have an underweight child under her care the entire quarter. Definite steps will be taken to improve the child.

"Duley", Well-given, Pleases Large Crowd

"Duley is in a pickle." I'll say so was in a pickle. Such an awful time as she did have. Duley was such a child despite the fact that she was married. She was always trying to make every one happy, even the cranky old Mr. C. Roger Forbes, and finally in the end succeeded in making even him happy.

This three act comedy was certainly well presented by the Dramatic Club. The parts were well played.

The audience sat on the edge of their seats, holding their breath, and wondering what Duley would do next. They received many a laugh at Mr. C. Roger Forbes and his "backache". Also at Mr. Leach and his "gehegarios". The play ended with everybody happy and the audience in a good humor, having lost all its blues in the good laugh they had at Duley.

Lindbergh's Mother At N. E. A. Meeting

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, traveling by air, will leave Detroit Saturday or early next week for Boston, where she is to be the guest of the National Education Association which will open its convention on March 1.

The flight is to be made in a plane provided by F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aviation. Arrangements have been made through Mr. Davison and Porter H. Adams, president of the National Aeronautical Association.

Mrs. Lindbergh is to receive a gold emblem and life membership in the National Education Association for "Characteristics of Modesty and Idealism, and outstanding work in the teaching profession."

Fame of George Washington will Outlive Others

In Assembly Talk Mr. Cook Pays Tribute To First President—Suggests History Department Sponsor Washington Program Annually.

"George Washington's name will stand out on the pages of history long after other famous men's names are forgotten," Mr. Cook of the history department of the College told the students in assembly Wednesday morning. "He was without doubt the greatest commander, the greatest statesman, and the greatest executive the United States has ever had," said Mr. Cook.

Mr. Cook continued his speech with a short discussion of Washington's life and said that little was known of his boyhood as few of the stories which grew up about him had survived a critical investigation. The cherry tree incident is a favorite story of Washington's early life but there are many people who doubt that it is true and there is on way to prove the veracity of the story.

Another story of Washington's early life is that George happened by the flower garden and found his name traced by flowers. Running to his father he asked him to come to the garden and he pointed out his name to his father and asked him how it happened that his name was so traced by flowers. His father replied, "Perhaps by chance."

"No," replied Washington, "It must have been by design. Nothing comes by chance." Washington believed in a Great Designer, a Divine Plan. And this thought carried through with him all of his life, Mr. Cook continued.

"Although Washington made a private fortune so that it was not necessary for him to remain in public life, his sense of public spiritedness forced him to serve his country at any time that he was needed. Even after he had served his two terms as president of our country he was willing to come back as commander of the armies but war was averted making his services unnecessary."

Someone said to General Washington, "Your influence carried this government." He replied that it was not influence that we want—we want a government of law and not of men. Mr. Cook said that this was the thought and principle that he wanted to leave with the students even if they got nothing else.

Mr. Cook stated that he was not at ease before a large audience. However, since it appears to be fitting and proper for the history department to give a program on Washington's birthday he would be willing to assist any movement for future programs along this line.

Mr. Kinnaird opened the assembly by a short prayer after which the chorus sang "The Americans Come" by Fay.

Frosh Girls Hear Talk on Etiquette

Miss Starr, home economics teacher, gave a demonstration and lecture to Miss Barnard's freshmen problems class Tuesday afternoon on table etiquette. She briefly summarized points on how to set the table properly, the serving of a luncheon, correct use of silver, napkins, etc., and also proper conversation and the direction of same by the hostess.

Her lecture was very interesting as well as helpful, and the girls enjoyed it a great deal.

College High Ends Season With Victory

Defeats Clearmont 33 to 12 to Make Season's Record Five Victories Out of Seven Starts.

The College High School basketball team defeated Clearmont High, 33 to 12 last Friday night, it being the last game scheduled for the College High engers, they were very glad to boost their victories to five out of seven starts.

The Junior Bearcats were late in getting organized, but under the coaching of Lloyd "Whoop" Hollar have developed a winning team. This team will be entered in the sub-district tournament March 2 and 3.

In the seven games, the team has scored 157 points to the opponents' 125. Linville, center and captain, was high scorer of the squad. Logan has displayed good floor work during the season while Cahlow and Bird were responsible for holding the opponents to low scores. Campbell, the other forward has played some clever basketball in most of the games. Besides the regulars Conway, Houston, and Lawrence have displayed ability in several games.

Two Students Ask, "What Is Real School Spirit?"

Editor's note: The following article was written by two prominent students on the campus. As it is provocative of thought, to say the least, the Northwest Missourian gladly presents it to the student body and Missourian readers.

A question confronting many students of this college at present is: What constitutes a real school spirit?

Now the first thing that might come to many of the students who think they have a real school spirit would be, your presence at every basketball football game, yelling and cheering with all your might under the direction of our said cheer leaders. Under the present atmosphere of the college it would seem that this alone is the nucleus around which the school spirit hangs and from which it is to be moulded.

Now if a conscientious professor should deem it necessary to complete his studies for the benefit of a few

Dancing Class to Hold Final Session

The dancing class will hold its sixth and last session Thursday, in the College Gymnasium. The five lessons that have been given, under the supervision of the Prinz Dancing Academy of St. Joseph, have been attended by a large number of enthusiastic students.

Clun Wilson, a student under Mr. Prinz, has received the honor of being presented with a life membership in the dancing academy, which is located in the Missouri Theatre building at St. Joseph. The honor was given because of the showing made by Wilson here. On account of some extra money left from the dancing fees, the Student Council will decide Thursday night whether a party or an extra lesson will be given those taking dancing lessons.

Tower Makes Progress; Still Lack Pictures

Material for the Tower, the annual, is coming in fine now and so it should for there remains only a few more weeks for its completion. Write-ups and data of all kinds are being accumulated.

But as is the usual case, a few are lagging behind and are neglecting to make arrangements for their picture. It is imperative that these pictures be taken before the end of this quarter as they cannot be taken care of at a later date. Even if you don't care to have your picture appear in the Tower just remember that you have some friends here who want to see it there that they may in later years recall you and their happy relations with you at S. T. C.

Let yourself feel that you are a part of this school and the activities connected with it. Do your part to make the Tower the biggest recorder of these activities, the complete memoir that it should be.

Many Students Go to Pep Squad Tea Dance

The Tea Dance sponsored by the Girl's Pop Squad last Wednesday was well attended and enjoyed by the students. It was the first of a series of dances to be given during the spring quarter. The Wednesday afternoon tea will be continued but because of the absence of Miss Barnard, and final exams no tea will be given this week.

Bearcats Crush Mules in Final 3-Minute Spurt

Trailing Warrensburg 30 to 14 in Final Period Locals Stage Bewildering Rally for 40 to 37 Victory—Now in Second Place—Play Kirkville Friday.

The M. I. A. A. Standing
Springfield 9 3 .750
Maryville 7 3 .637
Kirkville 6 5 .545
Warrensburg 6 6 .500
Cape Girardeau 1 11 .084

With only one more game to be played in the M. I. A. A. conference this year, the Springfield Bears hold undisputed possession of first place. The Bearcats has a secure hold of second place regardless of its final game this week with Kirkville. If Kirkville should win the game the Bulldogs will be in third place; if they lose the Northeast Missourians will be tied with Warrensburg for third place. Cape Girardeau holds the cellar position with only one game won.

Friday night the Bearcats journey to Kirkville for the final conference game. These two teams split a pair of games here week before last but the Bearcat followers believe the Bulldogs can again be subdued. If they are, the Bearcats will hold the unique record of beating every team in the conference twice and losing to every team in the conference once.

Last Friday and Saturday the Springfield Bears cinched first place by beating the lowly Cape Indians 44 to 24, and 46 to 29. Monday night the Warrensburg Mules won from the Kirkville Bulldogs 26 to 21, but dropped the next night's game 27 to 45.

Two years ago the Bearcats won the undisputed championship of the conference in basket ball. Last year they tied for first place with Kirkville, and this year they finish in second place.

Rally Beats Mules
For twenty minutes last Thursday night the Warrensburg Mules brayed, bucked, passed and shot their way to a lead of 28 to 14 in the first half of a hectic basketball game at that place.

But that doesn't tell the entire story. It doesn't tell about the "fighting" Bearcat who with eyes flashing, tail lashing, and with bared fangs, came back in the second half and fought an uphill battle to win the game in the last three minutes of play. The final score was 40 to 37 and not a one of the few faithful fans that had motored to Warrensburg from Maryville to see the game could talk above a whisper when the final gun had sounded.

All of the Bearcats played a remarkable game but those who saw it say that if any individual honors were to be passed out they would have to go to Burks for his floor game and passing. Time and time again he would dribble the ball through the Mule defense to shoot or to stily pass to Hedges or Ungles. Hedges and Ungles were high point men, Hedges getting six field baskets and Ungles getting five baskets and three free throws. Burks tallied four baskets and two free throws.

Analysis O. K.'s Natatorium Water

Rumors that the water in the College was impure and unfit for swimming purposes are being thrown to the wind. A sample of the water was sent to the state board of health at Jefferson City. Wednesday, Dr. Green received the report from the board of health stating that the water was satisfactory. The examinations of the water sample from the swimming pool was made in accordance with the standard methods of water analysis of the American Public Health Association.

Dr. Green said that the pool here is one of the most modern plants made. The water is treated regularly with chlorine, changed regularly, is warmed, circulated and the tank cleaned twice a week.

The students of the College and training school are co-operating splendidly against small-pox according to Dr. Green. Two hundred and thirty have received vaccinations free of charge. The vaccinations have been given in conjunction with the Nodaway County Health Department. The College has been paying for the serum used. The success of these vaccinations lies in the fact that none of the student body has taken small-pox during the present school year.

ARE YOU A PARASITE?

Are you a parasite? Are you getting good grades, training for a position, and a good time from this school and giving nothing in return. In order that this school may be a real school we must have other activities. Some students spend all their time studying, making good grades and obtaining knowledge but putting nothing into the activities of the school. Others are epicureans and spend their time in pursuit of pleasure. If they are to obtain all the good things the school is offering for their advancement they should spend some time on extra-curricular activities. They should give some of their talent to the school in the form of athletics, music, or literary activities; they will surely profit in return. That student who is a parasite to the school cannot have the background for becoming a good teacher for he will not be able to carry on extra-curricular activities; he will not have had the chance to meet people and work with them if he has spent all his hours in study and making grades.

The student who takes the epicurean viewpoint and spends all his time in his own selfish pleasures will also be a part of his training—the greater of it, for he will have neither the needed academic training nor the efficiency in every way when he begins his career as a teacher.

You may say you have no particular talent and cannot do much to help your school, but you can at least show your interest by boosting and giving any little support that may be given—by being loyal and by helping out. If you can't be on the first team in basketball you can practice with the others; if you cannot help in one place there is surely another open for you, and at least—

"A good thing to remember, And a better thing to do, Is to work with the construction gang, And not with the wrecking crew."

Why Professors Get Gray.

Here are some of the reasons, wise and otherwise:

The timid soul, the fellow (more often a girl), afraid of the sound of his own voice, afraid lest he let escape something that might be worthwhile to say and for someone else to hear.

The student who is taking a course only because he could not find another to fit his schedule.

The bluffer, the fellow who took the course before and knows less than he knew before.

The sweet young thing who knows little or nothing of what it's all about, but whose main interest lies in furtive glances into a small mirror, lest her war-paint be gone away.

The donkey-faced individual who regards every recitation period as a very solemn occasion, registering "total depravity" for the professor, who dares to laugh at anything transpiring in the class-room.

The duffer, who unprepared on the day's assignment, suddenly develops keen interest and a questioning streak, thereby attempting a filibuster to throw discussion off the track.

The bird of solemn mien who believes only what his grandfather in the fourth generation believed.

The fierce and fiery radical who feels that to accept anything fostered by a previous generation is sure to head civilization toward the domination bows.

The student who expects his exam papers to be rated in direct proportion to the amount of good paper that he has soiled.

Yes, it certainly is little wonder the prof. grows gray.

Old Lady (at ball game): Why do they call that a fowl? I don't see no feathers.

O'Reilly: No, ma'am. It's a picked blue.

Harvard Plans Movie Series To Follow "Chronicles of America"

Harvard University has definitely entered the field of visual education through the medium of motion pictures. As a result of a contract between Harvard and Pathe Exchange, Inc., of New York, the University will prepare series of pictures dealing with different scientific subjects, to be known as the Pathe Science series.

Although these pictures are destined primarily for university, college, and school uses; they will be appropriate for the theatre, the church, the club and other social organizations. These series, when completed, will be distributed through Pathe's thirty-three branch offices all over the country. The first of the series will be ready for distribution by January 30, 1928.

The contract, which extends over a five-year period, was signed by President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, and Elmer Pearson, first Vice-President of Pathe. As Pathe has been cooperating with Yale University through the distribution of the "Chronicles of America" series for four years, this contract means that Pathe now has the cooperation of the two oldest universities in the United States.

Only one branch of science, Anthropology, the study of mankind, is specifically mentioned in the contract. However, the Division of Geology has also decided to participate in this work and has a series of pictures in the course of preparation. Dr. Kittery F. Mather, of this Division, and Dr. Ernest A. Mooton, of the Division of Anthropology, are heading a committee which will supervise the preparation of the pictures.

The official statement of Harvard University regarding the contract follows:

"Inasmuch as Pathe Exchange, Inc., desires the assistance of the 'Division of Anthropology of Harvard University' for the editing and titling of the anthropological material in the films which Pathe Exchange, Inc., has collected in its vaults and expects to collect in the future, and the advice of the members of the Division of Anthropology in the future, and the advice of the members of the Division of Anthropology in collecting new anthropological material and in producing films on anthropological subjects, the President and Fellows of Harvard College and Pathe Exchange, Inc., will provide the Division of Anthropology with certain apparatus to be installed at the Peabody Museum. For this purpose the Pathe Exchange, Inc., will provide the Division of Anthropology, from the material now collected in its vaults, and to be collected hereafter, with films of anthropological interest, and the Division of Anthropology will select, edit, and title reels suitable for instruction and educational purposes.

"Pathe Exchange, Inc., shall have the right to use the name of the Division of Anthropology of Harvard University in the distribution and publication of all films and reels so edited, and titled, and these films or reels shall not be altered, re-edited or cut without the approval of the Division of Anthropology of Harvard, shall be subject to the approval of the said President and Fellows of Harvard College.

"Pathe Exchange, Inc., will also provide one or more cameramen to accompany expeditions under the direction or auspices of the Division of Anthropology into the field.

"The agreement may be extended to include other departments of the University for similar cooperation with Pathe Exchange, Inc., in their respective fields."

Pathe Science Series will be made from film selected by the Harvard committee from Pathe's vast film library. This includes over two million feet of pictures taken during the last fifteen years. There are fifteen years of the Pathe News, nine years of the Pathe film magazine, the Review, and eleven travel feature pictures such as William J. Morden's Asiatic Expedition, Byrd's and Amundsen's Polar Flights, Prince William of Sweden's African Expedition, and "Nanook of the North," the famous Eskimaux picture.

This library is constantly growing from pictures sent in from all parts of the globe by Pathe cameramen working for the News, the Review, or on special assignment on scientific expeditions.

After representatives of the two Divisions have selected film which they consider of value, graduate students will classify, cut, assemble and title the various pictures in the series. A workshop has already been set up in the Peabody Museum at Cambridge and two graduate students in anthropology and one in geology are already at work.

The Pathe Science Series will be of a dual nature. One set of pictures will be made for use in universities and colleges. These will be of a highly technical nature and the supervision of the heads of the various departments will assure scientific accuracy. They will follow closely the courses in the various subjects as given at Harvard. University authorities feel that this series will be of the greatest value to other educational institutions, especially small colleges unable to support large scientific divisions, but which are eager to present these subjects to their students.

The second series will be for use in grade and high schools. They will be scientifically accurate and prepared with the same care as the series for university use, but will be edited so that they can be used in connection with school courses in geography. Outlines of such series have already been prepared by the Divisions of Anthropology and Geology. The former has in mind several series: the first will deal with physical conditions and life on the different continents, showing varying types of mankind, and the habits, customs, homes, industries, flora and fauna of the different parts of the earth; the second will show the different types of man and the criteria by which they are differentiated; the third will demonstrate how different people adapt or fail to adapt themselves to their environment.

The division of Geology is working on seven pictures dealing with this subject in a manner which will be of interest to school children. The subjects treated are shore lines and shore development, vulcanism, or the study of volcanoes, the work of ground water, glaciers, the mechanical work of the atmosphere, the work of running water, and the cycle of erosion. The last mentioned shows the slow but tremendous effect running water has on even the most durable substances.

From the profits accruing to Pathe from the distribution of these films a special fund will be created for the more extensive production of pictures for educational uses and for assistance in financing with Harvard scientific expeditions in different parts of the world.

Cape Students Earn $12,444 in Spare Time

Figures Compiled Shows 146 Students There Earned All or Part of Expenses Last Semester.

Figures compiled at Cape Girardeau Teachers College the past semester show that there are one hundred and forty-six students in school who earned either part or all of their school expenses, according to last week's "Capaha Arrow." These one hundred forty-six students earned a total of $12,444.63.

This money was earned by students while they were not engaged in school work. In order to secure these figures cards were handed out in assembly, and each student reported the amount he had earned. They show that 72 women earned $5091.58 and 74 men earned $7352.05.

Of the 146 students reporting 35

were employed by the college in janitor work, waiting tables in the dormitories, and as student assistants in libraries, offices and departments needing clerical work. The other 111 students worked part time in stores, restaurants, shops, filling stations and in other places where young men and women could be employed for an hour or two a day and all day Saturday.

Twenty-one young women earned their room and board in private homes. They each earned $28 a month which made a total of $2025.

$969 was earned by young men doing janitor work at the college, homes, and churches.

Thirty-three students earned a total of $2140 by clerking in stores, shops, confectionaries, and restaurants. There were 14 girls in this group who earned $467.

Seven girls working as waitresses in dormitories, restaurants, and cafeterias earned $387. Two girls made $156, in motion pictures, selling tickets and playing in an orchestra. Four other young women earned $98 as typists and eight made $555.25 in various music activities. Some of them played in orchestras, some giving piano lessons, others playing for choirs, club lunches, and gymnasium classes.

One young woman earned her board and room by renting a couple of rooms for light housekeeping and furnishing board for another girl.

Six girls did odd jobs at the dormitories and cared for children in homes and earned $144.

One girl earned $52 working in a beauty parlor at odd hours.

One of the girls who lives at Jackson earned $50. She drives to school every day and brings other students with her.

Eight girls earned $581.33 as student assistants in college library, offices and physical education classes.

Four young men earned $360 working for filling stations and one made $300 selling auto parts.

During the 18 weeks a young farmer who is a successful apairist earned $350 selling honey and advising other bee men.

One young man earned $700 selling insurance. One young fellow earned $100 working in a bank and another earned $225 doing clerical work for a manufacturing plant.

Plan Inter-College Oratorical Contest

Washington—The National Intercollegiate Oratorical contest on the Constitution, which has been conducted for the past three years by the Better American Federation of California, will be continued this year, according to an announcement this week at contest headquarters, 1217 National Press building, Washington.

The prizes will be the same as in previous years, namely $5,000 in cash, divided among the seven national finalists in the following amounts: First place, $1500; second, 1,000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400; and seventh, $350. The national finals will be held in Los Angeles on June 21.

Any bona fide undergraduate student in any university or college in the United States is eligible. The orations, which must not require more than ten minutes for delivery must be on one of the following subjects: The Constitution, Washington and the Constitution, Hamilton and the Constitution, Jefferson and the Constitution, Marshall and the Constitution, Franklin and the Constitution, Madison and the Constitution, Webster and the Constitution, and Lincoln and the Constitution.

The nation is divided into seven regions for the purposes of the contest. The colleges in each region compete among themselves, generally by states, to determine the finalists for each region. The regional finalists compete later in may to determine the one speaker from each region who is to have a place in the national finals. A place in the national finals automatically carries with it an award ranging from $350 to $1500, according to the ratings given the different national finalists.

Colleges may be enrolled in the contest by action either of a college official or a student. Entries close March 15. The spokesman for each college must be designated by April 15. Regional semi-finals will be held April 29.

For further information address contest headquarters as indicated above.

What Is A Real School Spirit?

on the other there might be those who would get through without finding the well-balanced school spirit which would deal with the social side of school life.

It should be made clear to some students that the purpose of college is not to provide a place to loaf during the four years of a person's life which might be made the most useful years. But college is a place for a person to get the essentials necessary for a richer and fuller life.

Pep Needed for Literary Activities

If there must be so much pep and enthusiasm developed within the student body on certain occasions why would it not be a wise move for the college and for the students to transfer some of it to the literary side of college life. Dry, isn't it? No doubt it is to some who do not care to indulge in an activity that might require a little thought on their part or a little sacrifice of their time from the dance hall or car ride.

The idea that all students must support athletics unquestionably and regardless of whether the athletes support any activity dear to the rest of the student body is very contradictory to a true college spirit. This idea seems to have been disregarded by some of our so called leaders of the college in that they do not take into consideration that a true college spirit means the loyal support of all activities. This is evidenced by the non-attendance of some students at class meetings, dramatic presentations, meetings of the religious organizations, and all other activities except athletics. Perhaps if a certain group of students would support these activities as well as they expect others to support their favorite activity, a better school spirit would be found in our college.

The True College Spirit

Is it a wise policy to seek after a true college spirit with injustice prevailing among students in their relation to each other? For instance, preceding our last pep meeting how many call to mind the inattentiveness and discourtesy, even to the point of rudeness, that was shown to the lady in question? As long as the student body fails to see the value of such worth-while work, other than in the realm of athletics it is to be seen that no college spirit can be had.

The Non-Athletic Bearcats

It seems to many people, students as well as others, that such college teams as the Y. M. C. A. Gospel team and the Debate team are as truly Bearcats as well as our football and basketball teams. It also seems that a good college spirit would demand that every student support these teams as well as our athletic teams. Are not their ideals as high as those on the athletic teams? Could they not advertise our school as well? Do they not provide as valuable training to the participants as do other activities? Why is it that they do not get the support of the student body as well as do our athletic teams? How many remember the conduct concerning two of these teams that President Ikin told to the assembly? From that, would you not judge that we have almost gone to seed on athletics?

This article is not written with the intention of causing any ill feeling among the student body, but it is written with the hope that a clearer view and a broader knowledge of a college spirit will be derived.

Plans for Spelling Contest Completed

Mr. Cooper in Charge of District Contest To Be Held Here March 16.

Plans for the annual district spelling contest for the schools of Northwest Missouri, which will be held March 16, have been completed by the committee in charge.

In the letters sent to the superintendents of the schools in this district, plans for the entertainment of the contests were outlined and are as follows: The College will furnish entertainment for all of the contestants while in Maryville. The girl contestants will be furnished board and room at Residence Hall. The boys will be furnished rooms in private homes and will take their meals at the College Cafeteria. No meals will be paid for except those taken at the College Cafeteria.

Every girl contestant must be under the guidance of a woman chaperone. Where two or more girl contestants come from one county they may be under one chaperone. Or the superintendents of two counties may arrange jointly to have one woman chaperone the girl contestants from both counties. Each county superintendent must select the chaperone and present the College her name with the contestants names.

The College will provide rooms in private homes for chaperones at 50c per person and meals may be secured at the College Cafeteria at reasonable rates. As the College derives no revenue of gate receipts from this contest it will be impossible to defray entertainment expense for chaperones.

The local entertainment committee has provided for cars which will meet the contestants from the different counties and take them to their rooms. If the delegation from the county drives to Maryville it should go at once to the Chamber of Commerce office where rooms will be assigned.

Other plans formulated and announced by the committee are:

The spelling list will be compiled by Mr. Phillips and Miss White of the College faculty. It will include words taken from Missouri newspapers, exclusive of periodicals and magazines.

The pronouncers are J. C. Godbey, State High School Inspector; Miss Cassie Burke, State Rural School Supervisor; Mr. Garrett member of the Biology Department; Miss Bogle member of the College English Department.

The judges chosen from the College faculty are: Miss Dow, Foreign Language Department; Miss James, commercial Department; Miss Dykes, English Department. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hawkins were chosen as alternate judges.

Mr. Cooper, Director of Extension of the College, is the manager of the contests.

Practice For "Aida"

The orchestra has been practicing for the opera "Aida" to be given at the College May 4. Mr. Lickert reports that improvement is being made with each practice.

The chorus has learned its part for the opera, and Mr. Gardner is very pleased with the singers. Last week a few of the practices had to be omitted on account of the number of colds in the chorus. Many of the students have been out of school on account of the gripe.

When you borrow, always borrow from a pessimist—he never expects it back anyhow.

60 Couples Attend Dance by Sigma Tau

Nearly sixty couples attended the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity dance held at the Elks Club last Friday night. This is the first dance sponsored by the fraternity but it plans another to be held sometime in the spring. John Whetstone's orchestra furnished the music. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lewis, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Eck.

Among those who attended the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bellows, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McDonnell, Misses Viola Cox, Leola Miller, Julia Wooderson, Irma Dalby, Lottie Masters, Grace Gallatin, Juanita Marsh, Helen Potts, Lucille Snyder, Katherine Chandler, Betty Dodd, Grace Ferritor, Katherine Gray, Mildred Fitz, Ruth Drago, Mary Foritor, Marjorie Brown, Helen Wethered, Fern Broadhurst, Sue Hankins, Alice Hastings, Pauline Andrews, Elsie Bindley, Mary Lee Peck, Verna Reynolds of Bethany, Mary Donna Malotte, Lucille Sturm, Gertrude Wray, Catherine Remus, Pauline Walker, Ruby Hawks, Mildred Omer, Hopkins; Beadonna Lingle, Bethany; Florence Prather, Tarkio; Beatrice Boyer, Loretta Hall, Doris Wallace, and Kerina Cummings.

Investment Class Has Another Hard Problem to Solve

Some time ago a problem was given to the readers of the Northwest Missourian. This problem caused so much discussion that another problem has been sent in from the class in investments.

A wooden stairway cost $50.00 and will last twelve years when it must be completely rebuilt. How much can profitably be expended to erect a steel and concrete stairway which will last thirty years before reconstruction is necessary, allowing interest at 6 per cent.

Many Flowers Now At The Greenhouse

The College Greenhouse, managed by Mr. Withington, is being used for a practical purpose. There are many beautiful flowers and ferns in the greenhouse, which are used on special occasions for all activities of the school.

The greenhouse has been in existence about twelve years and, under the supervision of Mr. Withington, it is becoming more useful all the time. This year it is being used more from a laboratory standpoint. The class in horticulture, having about thirty members, has several thousand hard wood cuttings in the greenhouse. There are also several hot beds, including lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes, peppers, and sweet potatoes which will be sold when matured.

The greenhouse is very profitable because the money from the sales goes to the school and a large amount is saved by having decorations at hand. Other than the plants already mentioned, there is a small rubber tree in the greenhouse, and a fish pond where the College goldfish are kept.

Dye Expert Gives Talk to Home Ec.

Miss Conner, representative of the Rit dyes, gave a very interesting demonstration to the Home Ec. and Art classes Tuesday from 9 to 11. First she showed them how to remove the color from goods so that they could be re-dyed. This was very interesting and she showed the different materials, such as cottons, silks, and linens that had had the color removed and were re-dyed. She gave a demonstration in making tie and die work such as scarfs. This was especially interesting to Art 81 class, as they are having the same kind of work now.

The girls were allowed to try their luck in making these scarfs and some very interesting designs were obtained. No doubt the Home Ec. and Art students learned a great deal that will be of value to them.

Attends Alumni Meeting.

Mr. Sealeman, director of information and alumni recorder of the College went to Des Moines last week where he attended the sixth district conference of the American Alumni Council, composed of alumni recorders from Colleges in the middle-west. Four colleges in Missouri, Maryville, Kirksville, Tarkio, and the University of Missouri had representatives at the meeting.

The following alumni recorders attended the meeting:

McNeil of Iowa Wesleyan college, Charles Deering and Elizabeth Tiernan of the Iowa State college, Frank Korab of Doane college, Barbara Freeman of Northeast Missouri State Teachers college, G. W. Bryant and Mrs. C. D. Thomas of Coe college, M. E. Sealeman of Northwest Missouri State Teachers college, Loren C. Talbot of Simpson college, Harold P. Holtz of the University of Nebraska, C. C. Crawford of Kansas State Teachers college at Emporia, A. C. Fuller of Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, J. W. Dickinson of Upper Iowa University, William A. ### Finish Quitman Testing.

Homer Richmond, Zella Needles, Leona LaVan, Rosella Foreman, and Mary Goodpasture of the class in Tests and Measurements, and Mr. Cooper, instructor, went to Quitman Tuesday to complete their survey of the Quitman schools. The class is now at work compiling the figures and tabulations on the survey. Last week the class went to Quitman and completed more than half of the work.

Attends K. C. Meeting.

Mr. Eck returned Sunday from Kansas City where he attended a meeting of the state course of study committee from the commerce standpoint.

Mr. Eck said that they had a good meeting and a great deal of good work was done. The syllabi of the work of the meeting will be published next week by the State Department of Education.

Those on the committee are T. O. Selby of the Kirksville State Teachers College; W. V. Check of the Springfield State Teachers College; L. M. Eck, of the Maryville State Teachers College and Earl J. VanHorne of the Westport High School, Kansas City, Mo. These men were appointed by State Superintendent of Schools, Charles A. Lee.

TEACHING

There's so much of real enjoyment; Pleasure, too, has ample share

For the teacher who's been teaching Basic facts of earth an air. Oh, of course, some days are AWFUL. Weighted down with toil and fret; There are always Johns and Marys To be loved and petted—yet.

Somehow when the day is over — When you sit and think it through; There's the joyous exultation In the job you've tried to do. Really deep abiding pleasure In the dreams you've dreamed of each; Climbing up, and up, and upward 'Till your goal for them, they reach. So, when hard things come, remember Battles make or break your strength And 'tis your resilient effort Measures YOU—your breadth and length.

—Jennie C. Walker.

Jeanette: What do you think of those two boys?
Virginia: They'd make a fine omelet.
J.: What do you mean?
V.: They're both good eggs.

Frank: When I arrived in Milwaukee, I had only one dollar in my pocket. With that small amount I made my start.

John: What did you do with the dollar.
Frank: I wired home for money.

Says the conservative Scotchman: "I'd give a thousand dollars to be one of those war millionaires."

High School Notes

Spickard High School

The contest for the discovery of the champion speller of Spickard High was held Friday, February 24th. All of the students were required to enter. Five hundred words from the Universal Speller were given in lists of one hundred. Many of us found we weren't such good spellers after all. We were very glad to congratulate Marie Dickerson, a Senior, who won the contest, misspelling only one word in the entire five hundred. Phillip Wild, a Sophomore, won second place and Horace Roberts, a Junior, third place. These three will represent S. H. S. at Trenton. Those representing the Spickard grades are Horace Heck, first place; Winona Burt, second place; and Shiloh Morris, third place.

The rural school contestants came to the "High" building Saturday, February 25th. This contest was conducted the same as the high school contest. Erni Adams of the Franklin school won first prize, Hilda McGowan of Oakridge school, second, and Carl McLaughlin also of the Franklin school, third. They will represent this district in the rural contest. This contest was very exciting because many ties had to be spelled off.

The girls physical education class program has proven very interesting to the girls, and also amusing as the girls are trying to learn various folk-dances and stunts. As the weather at this writing proves to be almost Spring, the girls have organized many hikes and picnics.

The Literary Club is progressing rapidly. The last program consisted of the following numbers: Roll call answered with an occupation beginning with the last letter of your name. Debate: Resolved that cats are more ornamental and useful than dogs. (This may sound silly for a high school debate subject, but if you have read Charles D. Warner's, "Calvin," or E. V. Lucas' "Household Gods," you will find many good sources for arguments). One act play—Turnipville Station Agent.

Duet: Listen to the Mocking Bird. Piano and violin duet.

"We hope to have a public program

One Reason

Last week Battery C passed the best equipment inspection of any company in the regiment. One very good reason for this high rating was the fact that SPIC AND SPAN cleaned and pressed all of the suits, hats, blankets, haversacks, belts and gun covers.

One More Reason

The reason that SPIC AND SPAN was able to do such good work for Battery C and the reason it does such good work for you lies in the fact that we are the only plant in this district using Glover's continuous flow clarifying and purifying system.

Another very good reason lies in the fact that we use Stoddard Crystal Solvent, recommended by the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners. Fifty-nine out of the sixty-one plants in Kansas City use the same Solvent.

Over the Library Desk

It is getting close to the end of the winter quarter and the library wishes to make an announcement or two.

In the first place many students whose names have been posted as having overdue books have returned the books at a later date and have not paid their fines. This list will be posted on the bulletin board this week. If your name appears on this list please see the librarian at once and pay your fine. At the end of the quarter those who have not paid their fines will be turned in to Mr. Rickenbrode's office and the fine will be doubled and deducted from your book fee.

We also wish to call your attention to the fact that all books that you have out of the library on "time" or for class use are due by or before Wednesday, March 7. Please turn these in on time and avoid being put on a new fine list.

The following are some of the new books that have recently been added to our College Library:

Bearcats Crush Mules in Final

In the first few minutes of the game the Bearcats were getting a lone field basket. The margin was more than maintained the Mules throughout the first period, and they ended the half with a lead of 28 to 14. The Bearcats were missing many shots in this period. Hedges got only one field goal and Ungles also found the mottled hoop only once from the field.

But the Bearcats kept peppering away at the basket in the final half, despite the fact that the Mules got the first score, running their lead to 30 to 14. After so long a time the Bearcats began to find the basket. They pulled up to within eight points of the Mules, and with only three minutes to play the score stood Warrensburg 34, Maryville 20.

These last three minutes of play spelled defeat for Warrensburg. Coach Tad Reid's men boosted their score three points during this period but the Bearcats counted fourteen points in a bewildering attack.

Norman, substitute Warrensburg forward, was poison to the Bearcat defense. Taking the place of Garrison, Warrensburg high-scorer for the season, he sunk the oval seven times from the floor in the first half. Draper the other Mule forward, was the other high scorer for Warrensburg, making eleven points.

The box score.

Colberts Entertain Math-Science Club

The mathematicians and scientists of the College were entertained Friday night at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Colbert.

Several "stunts" were done after which the evening was spent in playing cards.

Refreshments were served late in the evening. Twenty of the twenty-eight members of the Math and Science Club were present.

Three Faculty Members Go to N.E.A. Meeting

President Lamkin, Mr. Phillips, and Dean Barnard Attend Educators' Sessions in Boston This Week—Stop At New York.

President Lamkin, Mr. Phillips, and Dean Barnard represented the College this week at the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association which was held in Boston from February 26 to March 1.

Enroute to Boston most of the Maryville delegation stopped at New York to attend the Twentieth anniversary dinner of the appointment of the Roosevelt Commission on Country Life, given under the auspices of Columbia University and the American Country Life Association. The dinner was held Thursday evening, February 23, at the International House, 500 Riverside Drive. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, presided, and Liberty Hyde Bailey, chairman of the commission on Country Life, and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt were guests of honor. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas was one of the speakers.

In Boston President Lamkin and Mr. Phillips represented the College at the meeting of the American Association of Teacher's Colleges. Miss Barnard attended a meeting of the Association of College Deans of Women.

A comprehensive program was prepared for the sessions of the department of superintendence. Among the well-known speakers on the program were: A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University; William McAndrew, Chicago; Miss Cornelia S. Adair, president National Education Association; James R. Andell, president University of Minnesota; Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, and Beatrice Ensor, editor of "The New Education," London, England. Eight general sessions and a large number of departmental meetings were included on the program.

More than a hundred educators attended from Missouri alone. Most of the Maryville delegation were gone about two weeks.

Miss Barnard left last Thursday afternoon for Boston where the annual meeting of the National Association of Dean of Women was held from Feb. 27 to March 2.

All the meetings were held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel with the exceptions of a tea at Wellesley and an afternoon meeting at Radcliffe, the women's college of Harvard.

Miss Barnard received an invitation to a dinner and reception given by the National Council of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority at the home of Mrs. William Holmes Martin, National organizer.

A joint meeting of deans and Pan-Hellenic association was held Friday.

An interesting feature of a section meeting of the deans of Teacher's Colleges was a report of the personnel committee of which Miss Barnard is a member, on a study of the leisure reading done by college girls. The report was quite comprehensive as questions were sent out and replies received from thirty-eight states.

Miss Barnard stopped at Ann Arbor, Michigan, on her way home to visit relatives for a short time. While she was gone Miss Katherine Franken and Miss Dow were joint deans over the women of the college.

14 Teams Enter H. S. Tournament

Friday and Saturday there will be no final game Saturday night and the two winners in the semi-finals will go into the tourney next week.

There are eight sub-districts in Northwest Missouri and each will send two teams here next week to compete in the district tournament. In each case these two teams will be the two highest teams in their respective tournaments. Sam Ransdall of Chillicothe and Donald Best of Rockport will referee the games. All games will be played by quarters and on the large College court. The College is providing board and rooms for the players and coaches while here.

The eight sub-district tournaments have been sponsored by various colleges in Northwest Missouri. Those who will certify the winners of their tournaments to the district play here next week are: Tarkio College, Palmer College, Albany; Trenton Junior College, Missouri Wesleyan College, Cameron; William Jewell College, Kidder Institute, Richmond High School, and the State Teachers College here.

Two teams from each of these districts will play here next week for the Northwest Missouri Championship. The winners and runners-up will go to Columbia to compete in the state tourney for the state championship awarded by the University of Missouri.

Swimming Meet, Thursday.

The swimming meet is to be held Thursday, March 1, at 4:20 p. m. Since the teams have been chosen they have been working on perfection of form and the acquiring of greater speed.

Each class is urged to come out and support their team. The meet no doubt will prove to be an interesting one.

Last week Dr. Saxman gave an interesting lecture to the costume design class on value of good posture.

Bearcat-Mule Game Make Eight Rooters Lose Their Voices

There are eight men who can't talk above a whisper in Maryville today. These same eight men comprised the rooting section for the College at the game at Warrensburg and are to a large extent responsible for the team coming home with the long end of the score.

Randolph Holt, B. E. Condon, I. E. Tullock, F. R. Marell, George Herron, Albert Kuehs, O. K. Bovard, and Martin Lewis, Jr., are the voiceless men today because of their strenuous rooting for the team Thursday night.

The rooting section left in two cars and drove 170 miles to see the Bearcats play an indifferent game of basketball for the first half which ended 14-28 in favor of the Mules. Near the end of this half Martin Lewis' love for his old Alma Mater could be held in check no longer. He slapped the other boys on the back and told them to yell but they did not know what to yell. "Yell anything," he told them. They did.

Then started the chant of Fight! Fight! Fight! Each man on the team was encouraged when he seemed to lag and cheered when he had covered himself with glory by making one of those coveted baskets. In fact each man was told if he was not doing his duty and spurred on by this spirited gang.

In the second half came a fitting climax to such a loyal bunch of rooters for the Bearcats heard the yells and headed to the pleas of eight lusty voices and commenced to plug the basket with a regularity that was appalling. In looking over the statistics we find that the Bearcats made fourteen points to the Mules three in the last three minutes of play.

It is only the duty of the State Teachers College to extend a vote of thanks to all of these loyal supporters of the College basketball team.

Bearcats Unable to Book Another Game

It is evident that the Bearcats will play no more home games this season. Coach Lawrence's untiring effort to match a game with either the Hilliards or the Sterling Milk of Oklahoma have at last been exhausted and he has been forced to drop the idea of another game on the Bearcat court.

The Hilliards were scheduled to meet the Bearcats January 24 and February 28 but these two dates were cancelled by the chemist's team.

The Sterling Milk team who had wired that they could play here March 6, cancelled the game Monday. They explained that they had several players on the injured list and that they must rest up for the national tournament.

The only remaining game on the Bearcat schedule will be played at Kirksville next Saturday night. If the Bearcats trim the Bulldogs they will have clear claim to second place in the conference standings and the satisfaction of having trounced every team in the M. T. A. A. two out of three games this season.

Y. M.-Y. W. Hear Forceful Talk by Porto Rican

Miss Zelmira Biaggi of Park College Gives Frank, Interesting Address on Her Home People And Their Attitude Towards U. S.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. held a joint meeting Tuesday and heard an interesting, informative, but frank address on Porto Rico and its attitude towards the United States by Miss Zelmira Biaggi, native Porto Rican and at present a senior in Park College at Parkville, Mo. Through the courtesy of Dean F. W. Sanders of Park College Miss DeLue was able to make arrangements for Miss Biaggi to be here. Wednesday afternoon she spoke to the American Association of University Women.

In a friendly, pleasing manner enhanced by her charming Spanish accent Miss Biaggi launched forth into an open-minded interpretation of the Porto Rican's attitude towards the United States saying frankly that American visitors to the island show their feeling of superiority over the natives in every aspect of life. This attitude is resented by her people, the speaker declared.

Miss Biaggi gave an interesting description of her home land. The island is a hundred miles long and has a population of more than three million people. The name, she said, means, "Rich Port" and rather ironically added, "Rich for America, poor for Porto Rico," is the common sentiment among the native people.

She paid a high tribute to Lindbergh for his pioneering in aviation and for his trip to Central American countries. She played several numbers on the piano typifying Spanish and Porto Rican music.

Tracing the history of her island Miss Biaggi said:

"In 1493 the island was discovered. Ponce de Leon was the first to take it under the Spanish flag and give it a name. Under the regime of Spain, she said, there was no prosperity, but in 1898, when the United States took possession her economic, social, and industrial growth began."

Miss Biaggi gave a detailed account of the social life in her homeland, describing the different gradations which determine a person's standing, and the restriction put upon certain classes.

The sports of the United States and the island were discussed. She also spoke of religion, which she said was mostly Catholic. Education and politics were discussed.

Two political parties exist. Those who wish Porto Rico to remain a state subject to the United States form one and those who wish independence form the other. The latter group is composed largely of persons who have been educated in schools under American supervision.

The schools supported by the United States include but one course in Spanish. All the other language courses are in English. She says that the Americans are attempting to educate the youth of her country to American manners of thinking, and that this is one feature that her countrymen dislike.

Porto Ricans Barred.

"Americans have an idea of their superiority. You show it too much I think," she said. "For example, the Americans have their dance halls (casinos), but no Porto Rican is allowed to come there, while the Americans attend the casinos of the Porto Ricans and dance with natives regularly."

She says that here in America she can detect no such attitude, but that the people of the island do notice it there very much and they greatly resent it.

Marine: "Do you suppose they'd pay me what I'm worth if I teach next year?"

Stark: "They might, even do better than that. They might give you a small salary."

Touching on other Latin-American countries' attitude toward the United States, she gave an example of a Colombian woman, during our long-standing dispute with that country, refusing to shake hands with President Roosevelt during his visit to the Canal Zone, saying that no good Colombian woman should shake hands with a man like Roosevelt.

A large crowd of students and faculty members were present to hear Miss Biaggi speak. Her frank, friendly manner and open-mindedness on present problems made her a most popular speaker.

While here she was the guest of Mary Todd.

College High Five Beat St. Patrick's

Continuing to show the dash and the willingness to try hard, which has marked the play of the College High five this season, Mollar's proteges defeated St. Patrick's high 22 to 14.

Paying a fast offensive game the first half Campbell, Logan, and Linville amassed a total of twenty-one points to St. Pat's twelve. Returning in the second half the College High settled down to keep their lead—holding Kilis' team to one field goal.

Linville and Logan of the College and Conway of St. Pat's tied for high scoring honors with eight points each.

Miss Dvorak and Mr. Holdridge each gave a group of numbers at the Twentieth Century Club meeting which was held in the auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

"Gus is a good kid, isn't he?"
"Yes, if he had some brains he'd be a smart boy, if he knew how to use them."

Intrepid Dowager: Do you know my daughter, May?
Rake: Thanks for the tip.
